

Place 2.5: the new Sedus show room in Milan

Inauguration March 4 th 2009

Sedus - a company that in the course of its more than 130-year-long history of business activity has always defined new standards within the fields of ergonomics, production processes as an important acknowledgement of our research into a functional design that integrates into the planned and projected space for companies, for their communication and business needs.

well as ecology - opens its new show room at Milan in Piazza Castello (corner Via Quintino Sella). Sedus is an international player that enriches the aesthetics of office furniture with always new shapes bringing technological contents into the "vital office space" and which has chosen Tagliabue Sistemi as partner for the realization of the new spaces at their Milan show room. We are very proud of this partnership with one of the leading companies in the sector of planning office seatings and workstations. This means

We are going to be present at the inauguration and will be pleased to receive our guests at 5.30 pm attending together the performance of Virginio Briatore, philosopher of design and expert in contemporary languages, who will hold a brief presentation on "emotional office culture", the new frontier within the planning of people-oriented working spaces. We look forward to welcome you as our guests for the cocktail concluding the event.
